

Edvoice

Dear school leader,

This year, I'm planning to use Edvoice for my class. If you aren't familiar with Edvoice, it's a messaging tool that makes it easy to reach students and parents on any mobile device.

It can be challenging to connect with a class via email or handouts, but students and parents always have their phones. Edvoice is built for education, so I can send important updates, grades or rubrics, attendance reports and personalized feedback directly to students and parents.

EdVoice is safe.

- All personal contact information stays private.
- The tool help the community work together to keep EdVoice safe.

EdVoice is simple.

- Messages can be sent to classes, smaller groups, or individuals.
- Teachers can choose how they want to communicate:
 - Send one-way messages
 - Send and receive messages
 - Messages can be scheduled for later or sent instantly.

EdVoice is free to use on any device.

Edvoice is completely free to use for students and parents. Messages are delivered to smartphones devices. Class participants can receive messages and their stories by text on their mobile phones and push notifications, sent automatically via web, and by email.

To learn more about Edvoice, take a look at the website or contact the support team with any questions. I'd also be happy to discuss why I use Edvoice in person!

Kind regards,
